Rector's Welcoming Speech International Seminar on Political Party and Democracy

Assalamu'alaikum, Wr. Wb.

Selamat Pagi, Shalom, Omswastiatu, Namu Budhaya, Salam Sejahtera

Allow me to extend my warmest greetings to all honorary guests, Prof. Satya Arinanto, Prof. Garuda Wiko, Rector of Universitas Tanjungpura, Dr. Freddy Rumambi, Rector of ASMI, Dr. Purwanto, Rector of Universitas Panca Bhakti West Kalimantan, Arief Budiman, Chief of General Election Commission 20172021, Dr. Hasto Kristianto, Dr. Hanief Saha Ghafur, Head of Doctoral Study Program of Center for Global & Strategic studies, Dr. Audrey G. Tangkudung ILUNI SKSG UI Chief, and all speakers, and participants of the Seminar and International Conference on Political Parties and Democracy.

The seminar, which was initiated and conducted by the Alumni of the Graduate School Program of Center for Strategic and Global Studies Universitas Indonesia, raised the roles of political parties in promoting justice and world peace as its sub-theme. This theme becomes timely and significant with the heated national political atmosphere because recently, some political parties' leaders started to have meetings to explore the possibilities of political coalitions for the 2024 General Election. These domestic political events are a goldmine for academic research and studies.

I appreciate this seminar because the theme does not only cover domestic political issues, preparation for the General Election, political parties coalitions, and who is the favorite presidential candidates, but also the strategic roles of political parties in promoting justice and world peace.

Political parties should not only be concerned with their internal problems but should be able to participate more in resolving world conflicts and problems. The world is in a volatile and uncertain situation marked by disruptions in energy supply chains and the Russian-Ukrainian war in Europe. The world is waiting for the roles of political parties through their leaders to take concrete actions. President Joko Widodo has given us a clear example. Although he is not a leader of a political party, he is actively taking part in seeking justice and world peace.

As a closing, as the Rector of Universitas Indonesia, I open the International Seminar on Political Parties and Democracy. I hope that you all enjoy and gain benefits from the seminar.

Jakarta, Juli 2022
Rektor Universitas Indonesia,
Prof. Ari Kuncoro, SE., MA., Ph.D
